Harry Dopp has received notice of an increase to his pension allowance.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at Mrs. Odell's on Friday this week at 2:30 p. m.

A car-load of western corn recently received at an Owosso mill contained enough dynamite to have blown the city to atoms.

The fruit evaporator is in full blast, and a very good market is thus made for a class of fruit heretofore left to rot on the ground.

R. B. Qua will have a sale of horses, mules, cattle, hogs and farm implements at his farm on the Decatur road Thursday, Sept. 26th.

Gen. Alger did not materialize, either at Hartford Thursday, or at Benton Harbor Friday of last week. A severe cold kept him at home.

Letters remain uncalled for in the Paw Paw postoffice addressed to Mrs. N. Chambers, Mrs. T. H. Conlon, H. Eldredge, Mrs. N. Grover, H. Harton.

It required 400 freight cars to transport the exhibits to and from the state fair at Lansing. Of these, the C. & G. T. handled 250 and the Michigan Central 150.

Among the new postmasters appointed on the 14th inst., we notice two for Van Buren county: Albert O. Duncombe at Keelerville, and Geo. G. Scott at Sister Lakes.

Some slick-fingered gent "touched" Oscar Lamphere, a pensioner who had just drawn his quarterly stipend, for his pocket book and about $35 cash, Saturday evening.

The Mattawan ball team came over here last Saturday and played a game with the Paw Paw second nine, and went home vanquished. Score, 10 to 9, in favor of the Paw Paw kids.

The Berrien county jail has about twenty-five inmates at the present time, and the sheriff is anxious to have a session of the circuit court to make room for more who should be there.

Burke's hotel, at Kalamazoo, caught fire at an early hour Monday morning from a defective flue, and was damaged to the extent of $700. The thirty-six guests of the house escaped without injury.

Aaron M. Waterbury has leased the Kalamazoo house and will open it as soon as an elevator and steam heating apparatus can be put in. He formerly ran the house and is favorably known to the public.

Thirty or more of the young friends of Miss Nellie Qua made an unannounced visit to her at her home last Thursday evening, and a very pleasant hour was enjoyed. Her cousin, Miss Lottie Qua, of Gaylord was her guest, and assisted in entertaining the visitors.

Gov. Luce has appointed D. B. Merrill, of Kalamazoo, W. A. Coombs, of Coldwater, and F. W. Stock, of Hillsdale, as Michigan's delegates to the conference of the three Americas which meets in Washington Oct. 2d. The three gentlemen are all flour millers.

As the evenings begin to lengthen and more artificial light is needed in the house, the careful housewife looks about to see how well she is equipped with lamps. Anticipating this, Broughton has put in stock the finest line of lamps ever shown in Paw Paw. Look at them.

The state W. C. T. U. is desirous that all ministers of the gospel in this state make a united onslaught on the tobacco business next Sunday. There was one minister up at the Greenville conference who would hesitate about "roasting" his people much for the use of the weed, for he indulges a trifle himself.

Our Lacota and Barnes District correspondence were received on Wednesday—after the NORTHERNER was printed. Correspondents must get their letters to us as early as Tuesday morning, and Monday is better still. We close the forms of the NORTHERNER at 4 p. m. Tuesday. Please bear this in mind.

The state fair, at Lansing last week was the most successful of any in the history of the society. On Thursday it was estimated there were 25,000 visitors on the grounds. Every available inch of space for exhibits was occupied, and the society is to be congratulated on the outcome of the first fair on its own grounds.

Earl Strong, a young man whose home was in Kalamazoo, was killed last Wednesday in the Review and Herald office, at Bates Creek, where he was employed in the bindery. Strong was going up in an elevator, was caught between the elevator and the floor in some way and had his head crushed. Deceased was very highly respected.

The district convention of the Disciples, held at Hartford last week, was a great success. The storm on Sunday interfered with the grove meeting and compelled the audience to convene in the church. At the conclusion of Elder Carpenter's splendid discourse he stated that there was a debt of $1,000 on the house in which they were assembled, and that sum was at once pledged. Fifty dollars besides were also raised for missionary purposes.

Geo. T. Alexander, well known and a former resident here, now keeping a drug store in South Bend, Ind., made a fatal mistake, a short time ago, by putting up morphine for quinine. The result of the mistake was the death of Mr. A. C. Staley, president of the knitting works, at South Bend, who went to the drug store for quinine and gin to ward off an attack of rheumatism. After procuring the drug the victim went home, took a large dose of it and retired. During the night his wife was aroused by his laboring breathing and called medical aid, but the poison had too much the start of the antidotes, and death ensued. Only a few weeks ago Mr. Alexander made exactly the same mistake—putting up morphine for quinine—whereby a man named Rutledge came very near losing his life. The two drugs were kept some distance apart, one in red and the other in blue wrappers, both plainly labeled, and it is a mystery how the mistakes could have occurred.

Reports to the state board of health show diarrhoea, neuralgia, rheumatism and dysentery in the order named, as causing the most sickness in Michigan during the week last past. Diphtheria is reported in 10 places; scarlet fever at 10; typhoid fever at 22, and measles at 2.

At a circus in Niles a few days ago a German was done up by a bunco man for $150, and made complaint to the proprietor of the show, who asked him to point out the man who did it. The German immediately pointed out Frank Ross, a well-known banker and Presbyterian from Buchanan, as the culprit. And it was an extremely difficult matter to convince the Dutchman that he was mistaken—even if he was convinced, which the by-standers doubted.

The Detroit Free Press has found a new source of trouble for its mind, and it is nothing more nor less than the appointments of Commander-in-Chief Alger for places on its staff. Adjutant-General Hopkins is especially objectionable to the Free Press because, forsooth, Mr. Hopkins is a wealthy gentleman and a warm personal and political friend of Gen. Alger. Since when and by what code of ethics did the Free Press earn the right to dictate as to who should or should not serve as a staff officer of the commander-in-chief of the G. A. R.?

That Kansas corn from Mr. James Griffith's little field of big stalks has again made its appearance at the old stand, in front of Coleman & Defendorf's. This time it probably sports roasting ears, but they are so high up that the tallest man in town cannot reach them. Probably they hush them on horse back down in Kansas, and up here they will reach them from the top of the snow drifts, perhaps, for some of the best judges think that the corn will not be fully matured before January. But then they were badly fooled before, and like enough along in October it will begin to ripen up when Mr. Griffith will get a step ladder and take it down from its perch. We will again continue to wait and see.—Davenport Times.

A carpenter, by the name of M. S. Powers, fell from the roof of a house in East Des Moines, and sustained a painful and serious sprain of the wrist, which he cured with one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says it is worth $5 a bottle. It cost him 50 cents. For sale by all druggists. [sept]

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by a simple vegetable remedy the formula of a permanent and speedy cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail for addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Alvin Clipping, who was assaulted by John Dobbin at the asylum Sunday, and who made a complaint and caused Dobbin's arrest, withdrew his complaint this morning, out of respect for the family of the respondent. Dobbin filed a satisfaction, paid the costs, $4, and made Clipping a present of $30 to smooth things over.—Kal. Telegraph.

Mr. Van Pelt, Editor of the Craig, Mo., Meteor, went to a drug store at Hillsdale, Iowa, and asked the physician in attendance to give him a dose of something for cholera morbus and looseness of the bowels. He says: "I felt so much better the next morning that I concluded to call on the physician and get him to fix me up a supply of the medicine. I was surprised, when he handed me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says he prescribes it regularly in his practice and finds it the best he can get or prepare. I can testify to its efficiency in my case at all events." [sept]

Prof. W. G. Blaikie, D.D., in Harper's Magazine for October, will call the attention of the American traveller to "A Corner of Scotland worth Knowing"—a corner which is, however, rapidly becoming known to sea-side visitors as having the most bracing climate to be found, perhaps, in the British Isles. He refers to North Berwick, on the southern coast of the Firth of Forth, and the charm and the glory of the place, he says, lie in its beach, and its links, and its islands, and its sea-view, and its law, and its incomparable fresh air." Joseph Pennel and W. Small, in their accompanying illustration, keep pace with the author in revealing the beauties of this "curious little conglomerate of a place."

AN OLD TRICKSTER.

A Philanthropist Catches a Tartar in the Street Car Service.

"Shame! shame!" cried a benevolent gentleman, as a car driver snapped a whip lustily around the heels of a horse that was being led from the big stable of the cross-town lines in Christopher, near West street, to a waiting car. The animal was so lame in both front legs that the old frame quivered as if it were going to unhinge every time he cautiously put his foot on the pavement. It did seem hard to force an old animal like this to work, and a crowd of people, who had speedily gathered, were heartily glad when the benevolent man seized the driver's arm, and showing a badge of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, threatened to arrest him if he persisted in mauling the beast.

"Show Billy some kindness," said the driver in response to the stranger's suggestion. "Shure that's what ails him. He's had too much of it. Why he'll swallow kindness quicker than a mouthful of oats and show his gratitude by sleeping twenty-four hours out of a day. He's the biggest rogue in New York, and I'll prove it to you. Whoa there, Billy! Hi! Yi! Whoop!"

Up went the horse's ears as if he had heard the voice of an old friend. The driver patted him on the back and whispered: "You won't have to work today, Billy." The change was magical. The old nag was a 2-year-old again. He started toward his stall without a trace of lameness. He was turned about face toward the car quickly, the lameness returned in a jiffy, and he looked as if he was going to shake off his skin and die.

"This is an every day occurrence," said Mr. Parker, the superintendent of the stable. "Billy is an old trick horse and used to travel with a circus. He has an innate hatred for work, and becomes lame every time that he is taken from his stall to take a turn with a car. He fooled us all at first, and I had thought I had been badly stuck in buying him, but I soon found out he was shamming. The lameness disappears as soon as he is hitched up, and he goes on his journey at good speed."

"Have you any other horses with peculiar antics?"

"Yes, plenty of them. We get many well bred animals, runners, trotters and jumpers, that have had their day. Every beast of degree has a weakness of some sort that gives us trouble, but we don't have time to pay attention to their whims and they soon find it out and become old stagers. The car stable is the last station to the boneyard, and we get a hack at all the broken down plugs going in that direction. They are fed well and carefully looked after for the sake of economy, and a driver who is caught abusing a horse will be instantly discharged. Horses have to be trained for this work, and it takes several months to get them into shape to stand the wear and tear of rough pavement and exposure to all sorts of weather. A green horse that is not handled with care will wind up in the hospital after a week's steady work."—New York Tribune.

Qualified.

During a conversation on a railway train a well dressed old fellow became interested in a young man.

"You are just starting out in life, I suppose," said the old fellow.

"Yes."

"Have you any idea as to what you intend to do?"

"None whatever."

"What would you like to do?"

"I don't know. I don't think that I have any special fitness for anything."

"Got no leaning toward any calling, eh?"

"None."

"Why, then, have you left home?"

"Well, the truth is, I was bored. My brothers and sisters are musicians, and their playing annoyed me."

"You don't like music, then?"

"I despise it."

"Can you sing?"

"Not a note."

"Young man," said the old fellow, speaking with emotion, "you need feel no further anxiety concerning your future. I will give you a grand opportunity. I am the manager of an opera company, and I want you."—Arkansas Traveler.

Superstitions of the Stage.

"A cross eyed girl is death to good luck on the stage," said the old showman who was in a pensive and talkative mood Saturday.

"They are dead sure to bring bad luck—a regular hoodoo, and no mistake. Lots of us won't travel with one in the company. I won't, if I know it, and I reckon I do. The opera company here this week, though, don't think so. I noticed a twist in one of the eyes of the chorus. Another had one in a yellow clarinet in the orchestra. I'd rather play in front of a loaded cannon. Crickets! how I suffered! One night when I was playing down in Jersey I looked over the footlights and saw an old fellow with a black wig on his head blowing red hot at me out of the nozzle of a yellow clarinet. I was hoodooed for sure, and didn't get into luck again for over six months, and then only by picking up a horseshoe in Pittsburgh, Pa. I know lots of the boys who won't face one."—Lewiston Journal.

His Occupation.

Many a loving young bridegroom may deserve the epithet which illumines the following anecdote, but, as a general thing, no one discovers the fact in so short a time after marriage.

The niece of a deaf old gentleman, "way down in Maine," married one of the best musical critics of the west. On their bride tour the husband was for the first time presented to this relative, who asked another niece in a loud whisper:

"What does he do?"

"He's a musical critic," was the loud reply.

"Waal," said the uncle, gazing at the young man, "no accountin' for tastes; but why didn't she marry him, if he's a mis'erable critter?"—Musical Review.

Electric Prostration.

Several cases of this new malady are reported from Creusot, France. It affects workers under electric light. The light exceeds 100,000 candle power, and it appears that it is this excess of light, and not the heat, which produces the nervous symptoms. A painful sensation in the throat, face and temples is first noticed, then the skin becomes coppery red, and irritation is felt about the eyes. Much lachrymation ensues, and these symptoms then disappear, while the skin peels off in five days. The effects are comparable to those produced by walking over fresh snow in the sunlight, and may be regarded as a sort of "sun burning."—Lancet.
